To Whom It May Concern:

I am privileged to recommend to you CJ Hitz as a potential chapel speaker. CJ contacted our school recently saying he had a message about TRUTH that our young people needed to hear. Although I was reluctant to spend the money to bring someone way out west, I decided to partner with two other schools and share expenses. CJ was very helpful and humble as we worked things out; he made it clear that he was intent on getting the message out, not on profiting from the visit.

CJ shares a very powerful message. He is forthright about the culture and the impact it has on today's teens. He points to Scripture and shares the desire God has to work in the hearts of righteous men & women. Our students heard him clearly, and many were challenged to consider the impact the media has on their lives. Although CJ's appeal at the end of the presentation is not hard-hitting or extremely emotional, many students made decisions about the media they allow to impact their lives.

My encouragement is that you ask CJ to speak at your school. My strong recommendation is that you allow a full hour and half for the presentation. Time afterwards for questions and small groups discussion would even further take advantage of the message he shares. CJ would make an excellent choice for a spiritual emphasis speaker for any Christian high school. Some junior highs may want to preview the presentation beforehand, as it is fairly honest and graphic about what is available in today's teen culture.

I am happy to answer any questions about CJ's message. You can reach me at dschindler@sccslions.org.

In His service,

Debbie Schindler
